

THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH
College of Social Work

The Florence Smith Jacobsen Scholarship Application

*Only available to doctoral students focused on issues of concern to women and families.
Application deadline: March 1*

A generous gift from Florence S. and Ted C. Jacobsen established the Jacobsen Scholars program at the College of Social Work in 1998. The emphasis of study for Jacobsen Scholars is academically-based community scholarship and service that focuses on issues of concern to women, with particular emphasis on strengthening families. Whenever possible, recipients work in collaboration with the Belle S. Spafford Endowed Chair at the College.

This scholarship provides funding for one to three years of doctoral student tuition and fees. The timeline and dollar amounts will vary based on program success, research interests, and productivity.

Prospective students may apply before admission status is known.

Name:

Email:

Phone number:

Faculty mentor:

Please summarize the focus of your research interests/area of expertise (50 words maximum).

How will this work address issues of concern to women and children (100 words maximum)?

How do you expect to use the research and scholarly skills developed in the doctoral program to continue to serve women and children during your career (250 words maximum)?

Please submit your completed application to Bethany Bingham (Bethany.Bingham@utah.edu; 801-581-5571) by March 1. Access this form online by scanning the QR code.

