Please Post
The Center for Persons with Disabilities at Utah State University is seeking applications for a Clinician I.

Developmental Specialist
Experience working with toddlers with ASD

The successful applicant will provide developmental education to families of children with developmental delays in their homes, community, and/or classroom settings. Bachelor's or Master's degree in a related field, appropriate Utah State licensure(s), and 1 year of related experience with young children with disabilities is required. EEO employer/Veterans/Disabled

See http://jobs.usu.edu and click on jobs posted after April 1 for more information and to apply online.

https://usu.hiretouched.com/job-details?jobid=638

Position Summary: Requisition: E1500118
The Center for Persons with Disabilities at USU is in need of a Department of Health, Baby Watch Early Interventionist. The successful applicant will provide developmental home & center based services to families of children with developmental delays or who have symptoms of Autism, and address behavior difficulties in their homes, community, and/or classroom settings.

This position requires travel and services to families primarily in Box Elder county.

Responsibilities:
Provide evidence-based service using ASD methodology in homes and small group environments.
Understand and use of adult learning principles and methodologies.
Demonstrate competence using criterion referenced assessment to identify developmental delays in all areas of development.
Assessment and teaching children with symptoms of autism and their families.
Demonstrate the ability to interpret and integrate assessment information needed to develop individualized plans.
Collect and maintain data to evaluate child progress.
Work as part of an interdisciplinary team.
Must adhere to the University travel and driving policies.

Minimum/Preferred Qualifications:
1. Bachelor's or Master's Degree in SpED, master's in Psychology, bachelor/master degree plus BCBA certification, degree plus ASD methodology certification, or other related degree.
2. If applicable, Utah State licensure(s) required by the Utah Office of Occupational Licensing applicable to the profession.
3. At least one year or education equivalent evaluating and teaching young children with developmental delays or disabilities, including autism and their families.
4. Maintenance of appropriate professional affiliations(s) needed to supervise undergraduate and graduate students during practicum, student teaching, and internships.
5. Excellent written and verbal communication skills.

Preferred Qualifications:
1. Write and speak Spanish and English fluently
2. Baby Watch Early Intervention Credential II
3. Training and experience in ASD methodology
4. Live in the Box Elder county area

Opportunity Type: Full-Time w/benefits package

Advertised Salary: Minimum $29,500, plus excellent benefits

Required Documents (The names and contact information of 3 references will be collected during the application process):
Letter of Intent, Resume/CV, Transcript